DISCLOSURE POLICY

COLLAGE's Continuing Education Board defines a conflict of interest as any financial or non-financial consideration or relationship relevant to course content that compromises or has the potential to compromise professional judgment.

Please note that having a disclosable financial or non-financial relationship does not prevent you from speaking. Disclosing such relationships is intended to give Congress attendees a more complete context in which to consider the information you provide.

Refusal to disclose any financial or non-financial relationships disqualifies you from speaking at Congress.

You will be expected to disclose relevant relationships on-site at the time of your presentation, either verbally or visually.

We will provide additional guidelines for on-site disclosures after acceptance.

Examples of relevant and disclosable financial relationships may include:

- Being an employee of, or a paid consultant to, an organization whose product or service you discuss in your presentation
- Receiving grant funds for a research project you discuss in your presentation
- Receiving royalties from the sale of a book whose content you discuss in your presentation
- Patent holder
- Ownership interest (stocks, stock options, or other ownership interests)

Examples of relevant and disclosable non- financial relationships may include:

- Serving as a formal advisor to a review panel
- Sitting on the board of an organization whose product or service you discuss in your presentation
- Receiving an award or honor from an organization whose product or service you discuss in your presentation
